DETAILED ACTION

In response to the amendment filled on 8/18/2003, all the amendments have been entered and the action follows:

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The subject matter of "a computer program product" is non-statutory subject matter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 3. Claims 1, 4 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Niehaus (US 5422827).

Application/Control Number: 09/503,967

Art Unit: 2623

With respect to claim 1 (amended), Niehaus discloses a filtering of the collection in to valid input samples and non valid input samples on the basis of auxiliary data, (see col. 7, lines 40-43, a controller with the commands to do the scaling and sharpness, i.e. instructions for performing the method on a processor (as claimed in claim 5), see figure 2, steps 203, 205, 206, 207, 208, step 203 - receive new sample "collection of samples" and the receive sample in step 203 is read as the "input" of the sample data; step 205 - retrieve coefficients is read as "auxiliary data"; step 206 - apply coefficient to sample is read as "on the basis"; step 207 and step 208 – delete invalid samples and store valid samples is read as distinguishing the data into "non valid" and "valid samples"); deriving filtered samples associated with valid samples, (see col. 9, line 63 through col. 10, line 5, the new or desired curve on the basis of the factor is gotten for the outputted valid sample) as claimed.

Claim 4 (amended) is rejected for the same reasons as set forth for the claim 1, because claim 4 is claiming an apparatus for the method claimed in claim 1.

Claim 5 (amended) (even though the claim 5 is presently considered non statutory is rejected over the prior art, the examiner assuming applicant will amend the claim to overcome the 101 rejection and must make the claim statutory) is rejected for the same reasons as set forth for the claim 1, because claim 5 is claiming the computer program the method claimed in claim 1.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 2 and 3 are allowed.

5. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Claims 2 and 3 are allowed because prior art taken alone or in combination fails to suggest a method of filtering the collection of sample data wherein the data is distinguished in to the valid input or the non valid input sample data on the basis of auxiliary data, a padding value is calculated on the basis of the valid samples in the cluster of samples and generating a set of filter values for each valid sample by taking the value of the sample and by raking the padding value for each non valid sample and finally deriving a filtered sample from the cluster of filter input values in combinations with the other elements of the claims.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 8/18/2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In the response the applicant argues that prior art of record (Niehaus) does not disclose, "distinguishing between valid input samples and non valid input samples" (see page 4, lines 14-15 of Remarks). Examiner disagrees and indicates that the teachings of prior art (col. 8, lines 42-45) clearly disclose detecting invalid samples by determining valid and invalid samples. Reciting "valid input samples" and "non-valid input samples" does not limit the distinguishing process to a specific stage (e.g., distinguishing valid and non-valid in a pre processing stage.

Art Unit: 2623

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
